TOPICS OF NEW RESEARCH PROJECTS:

Mathematical study of infinite dynamic systems corresponding to the equations of mathematical physics. Mathematical modeling of real processes during the research of gases, liquids, plasma, solid bodies and biological organisms of various degrees of development and composition, where functional-analytical and probabilistic mathematical methods are used, and the BBGKY hierarchy of equations (Bogoliubov's chain of equations) is of particular importance. The use of the research in the fundamental areas of modern mathematics, in various branches of physics, mathematical biology, mathematical economics, and modern nanotechnologies. Mathematical modeling of biochemical processes on such issues as oscillations and synchronization of these oscillations, mutual synchronization in the life of individual cells and groups of cells, intercellular metabolism due to diffusion, self-oscillations in glycolysis, biochemical processes rates in cells, mathematical analysis of qualitative characteristics of solutions of systems of differential equations describing biochemical processes rates, mathematical study of the stability of fixed points of systems of differential equations describing biochemical processes rates, mathematical modeling of the self-oscillating biochemical process of photosynthesis.
